THE WORLD OF SPORT

Pushing the Work at the Coliseum
Park Track.

TWO OF THE CRACK CYCLISTS HERE

Manager Manning Strengthening the Local Team.

NEW OUTFIELDER SIGNED

Work on the new Coliseum Bicycle Park track has been somewhat delayed during the past few days by rain, but whenever opportunity afforded the carpenters went to work, with the result that fully three-fourths of the course has been completed. About two days more of good weather and the track will be finished, and with it the additional stands intended for both the right and left sides of the course.

Harry Elkes, the champion of the world, has been at the track this week, and so anxious has he been to get into racing condition that he has been spinning around the partially constructed track at an almost a minute gait. After the carpenters knock off work for the day Elkes and his little party go to work clearing away the debris and then for an hour the great rider goes around the bowl at top-notch speed. It is a dangerous task as there is no lower course to the track and the upper parts have not been finished, but Elkes is a nifty lad and perfectly willing to take all sorts of chances in order to train down to racing weight.

Arrival of Taylour.

Edmond Taylour arrived in Washington this morning with Mr. Klosterman of Baltimore, and he too will go into training at the Coliseum track tomorrow. Taylour is the champion of Europe and entitled to all the reputation he has earned, as he is an exceptionally brilliant rider and has many admirers who believe he is the equal of Jimmy Michael or Henry Elkes. Mr. Klosterman is the manager of the three tracks, embracing this city, Baltimore and Philadelphia, and says he will be enabled to present all the stars of the racing world during the season on his trio of tracks.

The latter part of next week the champion, Jimmy Michael, will arrive in Washington and join Elkes and Taylour in training at the Coliseum track. This trio is undoubtedly the best in the racing world. Michael, while champion, defeated everybody in Europe and this country with the exception of Elkes. The latter had performed the same feat, and when the two met last December at the Madison Square track, New York, Elkes defeated him by a very narrow margin. Taylour is the best rider in Europe, having swept the boards at all the tracks where he has been a competitor, and is still confident that he can win from either Elkes or Michael.

All of next week the men will be in training at Coliseum Park, East Capitol and 12th streets, and as no admission will be charged it is more than likely that large numbers will be in attendance watching the work at every opportunity. Should the weather be favorable tomorrow, Elkes and Taylour will take spins on the track in the afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock, and these exhibitions are open to the public. Both these riders have motorcycles at the park, and the way they spin around the bowl track is a stirring sight to see.

Mr. Elkes, in speaking about the track this morning, said that he considered it the best in the country. It has been constructed with mathematical accuracy, and he says the riders will have the greatest confidence in making the turns, knowing their comfort and safety have been looked after as well as the interests of the spectators.

When Elkes and Michael met in New York December 22 the former came out victor by one and three-fourths laps in a fifteen-mile race. The distance was covered in 23 minutes 3-5 seconds. The New York Herald at the time said:

"It required only such a victory as this to stamp Elkes as the most marvellous cycle rider at present in competition. With in a fortnight he has demonstrated himself to be among the strongest of endurance riders of the world, and the greatest of middle distance pace followers. His record is one never attained by any other cyclist in the annals of the sport."

"From start to finish Elkes had his match with Michael well in hand, and he crossed the line with a comfortable margin. From first to last he followed by one machine, a two and three-quarter horse power gasoline tandem, while four times the Welshman found it expedient to change his paces."

A NEW SENATOR SIGNED.

Manager Manning Secures Clarence Foster, Ex-Gov., for the Outfield.

Day afternoon completed arrangements with Clarence Foster, the former New York outfielder, and after he had placed his name to a contract, he was sent on to Boston to join the other Washington players. Foster will probably replace O'Brien in left field and go into his first game as a Senator today in the city of culture. He comes to Washington well recommended by Mercer and Grady, both of whom claim that Foster was not given the opportunity in New York to fully demonstrate his worth as a ball player. He served as utility man last season and batted up to .284, and is very fast on his feet. Grady claims that when Foster plays steadily his work will improve, both at the bat and in the field, and that he will be a valuable man to the Washington club. Both Managers McGraw and Mack were after Foster, but it didn't take the latter and Manager Manning five minutes to come to an agreement as to terms and sign a contract.

Manager Manning has his eyes on other players of note and should any one of his men show a backward tendency he will be replaced instantly. Senators were prevented by rain from playing in Baltimore yesterday and moved on to Boston for a series of four games with Jimmy Collins and his mob of bean eaters. Lee will probably do the twirling for Washington, and as the

ADVERSE REPORT.

Engineer Commissioner Disapproves Request for Permit.

Engineer Commissioner Beach has recommended to his associates unfavorable consideration of the request of J. F. Wagonman for permission to place a wooden platform over the parking on the south side of P street, immediately west of the market at the intersection of 22d street, C. B. Hunt, the computing engineer, reported upon the application, saying:

"I do not think that the extension in this manner of the parking occupation over the frontage of a vacant lot—even if the same is owned by the same parties who own the building—is either contemplated by the regulations or advisable or desirable. I am further satisfied that the use of this platform would be sought and probably availed of to a greater extent than the general regulation of four feet from the building line. In any event, and no matter how limited, the proposed use would be objectionable in a residence neighborhood such as this, and the substantial character of the construction proposed and the considerable expenditure necessary to make it would indicate that a return was expected in the form of a considerable use of the space, which only this permit be granted."

Capt. H. C. Newcomer, assistant to the Engineer Commissioner, stated that oral application was made for permission to bring the parking to grade in case the request for a platform was denied. He recommends that permit to grade the parking be given, provided a wall is constructed to retain the fill west of the dirt road shown on the enclosed plat, as this portion of the parking is at the crest of the left bank of Rock creek. Continuing, Capt. Newcomer states: "It is understood that the basement of this market building is to be occupied by an auction establishment, and the purpose of bringing the parking to grade is doubtless to use it for the display of furniture on auction days, and possibly at other times. It is suggested, therefore, that the writer be notified in case a permit to grade the parking is issued that the use of this parking for the display of goods will not be permitted for the reasons stated in the first indorsement."

He Postponed Lincoln's Assassination.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

The death of Mr. John H. Westfall, in the seventy-third year of his age, at his residence, No. 25 C street northeast, this city, on the 25th ultimo, removed one to whom was justly accorded the credit of having prevented the assassination of President Lincoln on the day of his second inauguration. On March 4, 1865, as Mr. Lincoln and his party passed from the rotunda of the Capitol to the east front of the building, a man who had made repeated efforts to follow the President-elect was seized by Mr. Westfall, then in charge of the Capitol police at that point, and with the aid of the doorkeeper, forcibly excluded. At the time the incident was investigated, it was of no importance, but after the assassination within the following month it was discovered that the would-be intruder was none other than John Wilkes Booth, bent upon the malevolent mission which he eventually effected. Verification of this episode may be found in the Lincoln Memorial Building, on 10th street northwest. This city, in the form of affidavits from former police comrades of Mr. Westfall, whose services on the occasion were motorcade regulars, his promotion to lieutenant of the Capitol police force. Mr. Westfall was the possessor of a high moral character, an equable disposition and good intellectual parts. The true Christian graces were so harmoniously blended in his daily life as to challenge the admiration of the most scrupulous. S.
